

HOMECOMING DAY WILL BE HELD FRIDAY

Varied Program Planned For Jr. College Alumni on Homecoming Day, October 23rd

Plans are now under way for the observance of the annual Homecoming Day, October 23. The complete program has not yet been announced, but recent advices from the committee in charge indicate that a real treat is in prospect, with all forms of entertainment in preparation for returning alumni.

The highlight of the program will be the big football game with Delta State under the lights on Friday night. This promises to be the hardest game of the season. Delta has been bowling over all opposition this year, and is expected to give the Junior Vols plenty of trouble. The Delta team won over Sunflower last Friday while the U. T. Juniors were taking Austin Peay 19-0.

There will be a special section of the stands reserved for the alumni for this game. All alumni will sit in this section and wear arm bands. At the half Executive Officer Paul Meek will address the crowd through the public address system. Plans are being formulated to have the first president of the All-Students Club of the Junior College on hand to reply to Mr. Meek.

It is hoped to have all former students of the Junior College in reach out for the Homecoming. The entertainment will be varied to suit everyone. The committee is expending every effort to reach all alumni. Copies of this edition will be sent to graduates in all parts of the state in order to insure as large an attendance as possible.

EXECUTIVE OFFICER WELCOMES ALL TO THE HOMECOMING

Let this be a word of greetings, and an invitation as well, to our homecoming football game on October 23.

And may I also thank the loyal county agents, home demonstration agents, Smith-Hughes teachers of agriculture and home economics, all through our West Tennessee territory, for the aid and splendid assistance you have given The University of Tennessee Junior College; for to you goes the credit, almost, I might say, the whole credit, for our growth in these recent years. It is a growth in which we take a real pride, and we unhesitatingly give thanks where thanks are due.

I should like to detain you a moment with some figures, through I know how dull statistics may be. I plead your attention to these, however, because your contribution has caused the growth indicated in our enrollment. In 1934-35 we had enrolled in Agriculture 57; in '35-36, 91; in '36-37, 103, or almost a hundred per cent increase in three years. In Home Economics, the increase was as follows: 1934-35, 48; in '35-36, 58; in '36-37, 82, or again, a nearly hundred per cent growth. In Industrial Arts, specifically, Agricultural Engineering, the enrollment for this initial year, to our surprise and gratification, is 32, instead of the 18 which we had expected.

Edith Parrish Elected President of Orchestra

Miss Edith Barnes Parrish was elected president of the Junior College Orchestra at a recent meeting of that organization. She will serve for the coming year.

Other officers elected were Phil Hurt, vice-president; James Giardina, secretary-treasurer; Walter S. Moore, business manager; Vernon Lehman, librarian; Jack Brown, publicity director.

The orchestra is off to a good start, and great things are expected of it this year. All those interested in orchestra work are urged to come out and participate.

Ag Club To Stage Annual Barnwarmin'

On Saturday night, October 30, the Barnwarmin' will be held in the gymnasium. This is an annual affair sponsored by the Ag Club, and is one of the highlights of the social calendar.

Beginning at 7:30 on Halloween night, the Barnwarmin' will last until midnight. There will be both ballroom and old-fashioned dancing, interspersed with special features.

All students and members of the faculty are invited. For those who do not dance there will be side shows and other forms of amusement. There will also be refreshments for all.

The Ag Club has requested that all come dressed informally, preferably in overalls and gingham dresses.

ALL STUDENTS CLUB ELECTS KIM VAUGHN

Prominent Student, Vice-President of All Students Club Is Unanimously Elected President

Kimbrough Vaughan, of Bartlett, was unanimously elected president of the All-Students Club at a meeting held last Tuesday, October 14. He will serve for the coming year.

The All-Students Club found itself without a head when the president elected last year failed to return to school. R. G. Turner, faculty sponsor of the organization, coming before a student assembly last week, explained the situation, and called for an election to select a president for the coming year. It was then that Vaughan, who had been named vice-president of the club last year, and who had been serving in that capacity, was elected.

An election will be held sometime in the near future to determine the new vice-president. A nominating committee has been appointed which will submit a list of candidates for the office. Only one restriction is placed upon the candidates. The new vice-president must be a Sophomore in good standing.

Vaughan is prominent in campus affairs, and is well-known and liked by the entire student body. He is a member of the T Club and is playing his second year of football for the Junior Vols.

COMMITTEE EXTENDS TIME FOR VOTING ON SCHOOL ANNUAL

The time for voting on the annual has been extended, according to recent advices from J. Paul Phillips, chairman of the publications committee. Students desiring to express themselves on this issue may do so within the next few days.

When the students were given a chance to vote on an annual last week the number of those who agreed to purchase a yearbook was only slightly less than the number required by the committee to permit the issue. Many of the students failed to turn in their ballots at all. For this reason the publications committee decided to allow a little more time before the final court in order that all returns might be in.

There is still time for those who wish to vote to do so. Such students should see Mr. Phillips, in the next few days, however, as the line will soon be passed.

Volette Receives Alumni Support

The Volette has received support from Miss Helen Hutchison, a recent alumnus of the college, who is contributing to the publication of the magazine. She attended the Junior College last year, is continuing her career on "the Hill."

Miss Hutchison's contribution is a "welcome" to the "U.T.'ers." Even though this is possible through the former graduates of the college, wherever they may be, keep informed of the Volette. After the publication is complete, it will be available through the Volette.

DELTA STATE GAME FEATURES HOMECOMING

Junior Vols Face Supreme Test Friday Night; Delta State 11 Outweighs Junior Vols

The "Big Moment" of The University of Tennessee Junior Vols' football season will take place here Friday night, when the Junior Vols clash with Delta State in their annual homecoming tilt.

Both teams boast unblemished records and will put out all they have in order to take this game. The Junior Vols have won four consecutive games to their credit this season, two of which were Mississippi Valley Conference contests. They were victors over the Northwest Mississippi Junior College, Hiwassee, Arkansas State, and Austin Peay.

The Delta State combination will enter the game slightly favored, since Delta State is a four-year college with excessive experienced men and their team also has the advantage in weight.

Probable starters for the Junior Vols include Capt. Elmer Vaughn at quarterback, Bryan Robinson at fullback, and Herschel Ellis and J. N. Hall at the halfback posts. In the line Roland McMackin and Ernest Greer are likely starters at the wings and Billie Zarecar and James Cowley at tackles. Co-Capt. Douglas Mayo and Billie Zarecar will play at ends.

The meeting closed with the observation of a minute of silent prayer.

MEMORIAL SERVICE FOR DEAN WILLSON HELD

Prof. Woods Reviews Life of Much-Loved Teacher of University; Student Body Attends

A memorial service for the late Dean Willson was held in the auditorium on Wednesday afternoon at 2:30 o'clock. Prof. S. R. Woods was in charge of the simple and beautiful service.

Mr. Woods spoke of the life of the Dean, his boyhood on a Michigan farm, his schooling, and the work in which he had been engaged. He told of his coming to The University of Tennessee in 1910, and of his rise from an assistant professorship to Dean of the College of Agriculture.

In speaking of Dean Willson as the "father of the Junior College", Mr. Woods told of his never-ceasing interest in this branch of the University. It was always a source of pleasure to him to be able to visit the Junior College campus, and he was always welcome.

Mr. Woods' remarks were followed by the singing of "God Be With You 'Til We Meet Again," after which J. Paul Phillips led in prayer.

R. G. Turner, head of the Biology department, made a short talk on "Dean Willson as I knew him." Mr. Turner, a former pupil of the Dean, spoke feelingly of C. A. Willson the man, emphasizing the fact that he was always interested in students' problems, and always ready to help in any way.

YOUNG DEMOCRATIC CLUB IN SCHOOL FOR ROOSEVELT

G. Neese, Jr., is president of the Young Democratic Club at the University, Lebanon, one of the great universities in the nation. Such an organization, Neese said, is a source of pride and honor to Squire C. G. Neese and is a source of publicity for the school. He entered this fall. Announcement of formation of the club was made Tuesday by Joe C. Carr, state president of Young Democratic Club. The club works for re-election of President Franklin D. Roosevelt. Officers are Doris Mitchell of Memphis, secretary-treasurer, and Junian Warren of Jacksonville, Fla., vice-president. —The Parolan.

Classes Elect Officers for Year

Class officers for the year 1936-37 were elected at meetings held recently. Russell Hillis, of Greenfield, was elected president of the Sophomores, while Lloyd Moody, of Tiptonville, was named to head the Freshmen.

Other Sophomore officers elected were Jimmy Bramham, vice-president; Edith Barnes Parrish, secretary; Herschel "Speedy" Ellis, treasurer; Billy Zarecar, sergeant-at-arms. Doc Schmidt was named sponsor.

Haggard Cheery is vice-president of the Frosh, with Frances Hansbrough secretary. Burns and Farmer are sergeants-at-arms, while Mr. DeMoss is sponsor.

SCHOOL, STATE MOURN DEATH OF DEAN WILLSON

Dean of College of Agriculture Passes Away; Was Factor in Development of Jr. College

The entire student body and faculty of the Junior College were saddened to learn of the death of C. A. Willson, dean of the College of Agriculture of The University of Tennessee, and "father of the Junior College." His death came at 3:55 p.m. last Monday at Fort Sanders Hospital in Knoxville, following a period of illness. He was 57 years of age.

Dean Willson was born and received his early education in Michigan. After teaching in several schools, he came to The University of Tennessee in 1910 as an assistant professor in Animal Husbandry, from which he rose to the position of dean of the Agricultural College.

Dean Willson has done much for the betterment of farming conditions in Tennessee. He was known all over the state due to his contact with farmers and county agents, many of whom were his former pupils.

He was a prime factor in the development of the Junior College. He was deeply interested in its progress, and was always glad to visit it.

Dean Willson leaves two daughters, one a student at the University at Knoxville, the other a student in the Medical School at Memphis.

YOUNG VOLS ARE EASY VICTORS OVER ARKANSAS STATE

The University of Tennessee Junior Vols took their third consecutive victory of the season from Arkansas State College of Jonesboro, Ark., here last Friday night, October 9. The Junior Vols were outweighted on an average of 34 pounds to the man, but this hindered the young Vols very little. They entered the game inspired to take the victory and achieved that end.

They began a scoring drive early in the initial quarter which ended with a 13 point lead at the quarter. After the ball had been advanced to the Indians' 15-yard stripe, Herschel Ellis, feet-footed halfback, rounded left end for the first marker. Capt. Elmer Vaughn drove through the center of the line for the second touchdown, which came in the closing minutes of the second frame. Roland McMackin booted the extra point.

The second half was similar to the first, with the Junior Vols driving over three more touchdowns to clinch the game with a 34-point lead.

The Arkansas State Indians were very seldom in scoring territory and made no serious scoring drive. The entire Junior Vol squad saw service.

Life-Savers Club

Charles Fisher was elected president of the Life Savers Club at a meeting held last Tuesday night, October 6. Bryan Robinson was elected vice-president, and Douglas Mayo was named secretary-treasurer of the organization.

The meeting was called by Miss Florence Elliott, capable sponsor of the Club. After the short business session, plans were made for a social function—a dance to be held in the gym Saturday night, October 17, thus starting the new year right.

AUSTIN PEAY TROUNCED BY JUNIOR VOLS

Capt. Elmer Vaughn Leads Attack by Scoring Two Touchdowns to Annex 4th Victory

The University of Tennessee Junior Vols annexed the heavy Austin Peay Red Terrors to their list of victims after a hard fought game on the College athletic field here Friday night.

Early in the first quarter the Junior Vols gained possession of the ball on their 32-yard stripe and opened up a driving and passing attack which carried the ball to the Terrors' 16-yard line, where Herschel Ellis circled right end for the first marker. The try for the extra point was unsuccessful.

The second quarter was a nip and tuck affair with both teams making long drives without scoring.

As usual the Junior Vols returned after the half with renewed vigor, and immediately began a scoring spree which gave them their 19-point advantage.

Capt. Elmer Vaughn scored both touchdowns after the ball had been advanced well into the invaders' territory. The first came on a pass from Herschel Ellis in the opening minutes of the third frame. Roland McMackin completed a pass from Ellis to make the extra point.

He drove through the center of the line for the final score on one of the Junior Vols' outstanding fake plays. The try for the extra point was bad.

ATHLETIC DIRECTOR WELCOMES ATHLETES TO HOMECOMING

In designating the game with Delta State as our Homecoming Game, the Athletic Council chose what promises to be our toughest 1936 foe. Probably no game in the MVC history has had more significant importance attached to it. Certainly no game thus far in this section has attracted more comment. Your enthusiastic presence at this game may prove to be the necessary inspiration for victory. Neither team has lost, nor been tied this season. At the present Delta has one more conference victory than the Junior Vols.

The University of Tennessee Junior College has always maintained high athletic standards. Our teams have on the whole given a good account of themselves in actual competition. This record and reputation was begun the first year that we opened our doors. You and those who have followed you, as standard bearers, have striven at all times to keep the standards high. The team this year is no exception. They are working hard, they are determined and if you would like to re-live your experiences as a Junior Vol, you need only to attend this homecoming game. It will give all of you an opportunity to recall and recite with those of your class, adventures and incidents of your college days.

On behalf of the Athletic Council, the coaches, the managers, a squad of 45 men, the cheer leaders, the student body and the entire faculty, I want to extend to all of you a cordial invitation to come back home for this special homecoming game. You will miss something if you cannot attend this game. We will be the loser, however, for not having the opportunity to see you.

H. K. GRANTHAM.

The faculty and student body of The University of Tennessee Junior College extend sincere sympathy to the family of the late Dean C. A. Willson in their bereavement.

HOMECOMING

On October 23, the Junior College will observe its annual Homecoming. It will be simply what the word implies—a homecoming. All the old grads will be here ready to renew an acquaintance with the school. The Big Game of the year will be on deck in order that everyone may have a chance to cheer a Tennessee team to victory again—we hope. The entire personnel of the institution will be in a holiday mood with "big doings" on hand. In short, a large time is in prospect for all.

However, there is something more than the "tumult and the shouting" in homecoming. There is something deeper—a kind of nostalgia that plays a thin tune on one's heartstrings. A something that is evoked by reminiscences of old joys, old sorrows, old endeavors, old triumphs, old defeats, old heartbreaks, old loves. This is brought back by contact with the school, and try as we may we are not able to shake it off even if we would. It is a part of Homecoming.

The University of Tennessee Junior College hopes to welcome all its alumni on the 23rd. Come back and re-live a few days of your life. You will be better for it. You are sure of your welcome for it is your Homecoming. Let's make it a big day!

DEAN C. A. WILLSON

The University and the State of Tennessee have suffered an irreparable loss in the death of Charles A. Willson. The Junior College has lost a beloved friend and generous patron. All University students have lost a kind and considerate friend.

Charles A. Willson was born August 29, 1879, in Michigan, the son of a farmer. Reared on a farm, he found pleasure in farm ways, and as a boy was interested in the soil and its products. He was married to Bertha M. Wallman in 1907. To this union were born two daughters.

Dean Willson taught in various schools before coming to The University of Tennessee in 1910, where he remained the rest of his life. Here in the short space of fourteen years, he rose from the position of assistant professor to Dean of the College of Agriculture, the position he held at the time of his death.

Dean Willson was the unflinching friend of the Junior College. He has justly been called the father of this institution. The administration of this branch of the University being under his department, it was natural that he should be concerned with its development. However, his interest was personal and always greater than was demanded of him. The campus never had a more welcome visitor nor one who delighted more in being a visitor than Dean Willson. We feel that the Junior College has suffered an irreparable loss in his death.

Dean Willson always had the betterment of farm conditions in Tennessee at heart. He had intimate contact with the farm through farmers and county agents, many of whom he had trained. He was the author of several books.

His students found him a patient, understanding friend, always ready to give helpful advice on student problems. He strove for a better understanding between pupils and instructors.

Dean Willson was a man worthy of the love and admiration bestowed on him by all who knew him. We shall miss his presence among us. The University of Tennessee mourns a lost leader—a man.

WHAT ABOUT THE ANNUAL

There is one question before the student body now which must be decided and decided now by every student. This is the question of whether or not an annual is to be published this year.

The answer to this question is not to be shirked by any student. It must be considered by each one as something of vital interest to him and to his school. An annual is not only a source of pleasure to the student; it is an advertisement for his school. An institution is judged largely by the character of its publications. A yearbook is the Grand Finale—a history of the year just passed, that goes out for the world to see. It is something of which to be proud. It reflects school spirit, school patriotism, school loyalty.

Recently an opportunity was given for the student body to vote on the question of publishing a yearbook. A total of 233 votes were cast in this poll. This leaves some half a hundred students not accounted for. In order that these students who have not voted may have a chance to do so, the publications committee has extended the time for voting, and students may vote for the next few days. May we urge that if you have not yet cast your vote that you do so at once? Regardless of whether you favor the publication of an annual or not, the committee would like to know your preference. Do not delay! Vote at once! The opportunity is yours!—What will you do with it?

PHILLIPS EXTENDS WELCOME TO ALL GRADUATE TEACHERS

Home and mother are two of the most significant words in our language. "There's no place like home" and "no friend like mother" express our feelings to these neither of which is complete without the other. Of the many institutions that have appropriated these lovable words, no other can justify their use as readily and easily as the colleges of our country. To the students who have taken up residence in them they are more than "a home away from home," they become the new home of the student in his expanding experiences and interests. All of the college authorities from teacher to president stand in the place of the mother who has intrusted her very own into the guardianship of an "alma mater" who guides, interprets, teaches and comes to love and take pride in the accomplishments of her alumni children.

We of U. T. Junior hope that you will not forget the old home and alma mater, but will come as often as possible. And to make sure that you not only know we are wanting to see you, but are planning to that end we have set aside Friday night, October 23, as Homecoming Game. This promises to be the season's best game and like a true mother we feel you deserve the very best we have to offer. To all our former students this means a reunion, a refreshing of the old ties and memories.

Remember the light will be in the window to welcome you back on Friday night, October 23. Join us again for a jolly good time.

J. PAUL PHILLIPS.

Executive Officer—

How, then, could we be other than pleased at the fine cooperation you, Agricultural and Home Economics teachers and county agents have given us? We go on record as assuring you we will always seek to be worthy of this confidence. You, in turn, may know that when you recommend one of your young people to attend the University of Tennessee Junior College, you are encouraging him to attend a school which is alert to the growing and changing needs of our Tennessee territory. We are proud of the fact that forty agents and assistants new in service in Tennessee are former alums of UTJC. We are laying special emphasis on Agricultural Engineering as a future adjunct to the growth of this region.

So, we repeat, what we are proud you have helped us to become; we shall yet be most dependent on some fine spirit of loyalty.

We welcome you with glad warmth to our Homecoming, October 23.

PAUL MEEK, Executive Officer

A BIT OF ADVICE

You who were present in Mr. Phillips' Psychology class on Wednesday of last week are informed, we trust, on the perils of love-sickness. We wonder how Mr. Phillips knew the lines in psychology text books could be suddenly transformed into a face. Trusting that the Sophomores have been duly warned concerning this dreaded disease, this bit of advice applies only to the Freshmen.

Only yesterday, while strolling about the campus, admiring its beauty and watching the flirtations of two squirrels, we noticed a leaf fluttering down from one of our Freshman's notebooks. Being very rude we secured the leaf and discovered—not Math problems—not Botany notes—but:

A Sonnet

Pray tell me, Cupid, if thou can'st,
What means love to mortal man?
The lingering caress of hidden hand,
Or the non-concealing glance
Cast into highly enchanted air.
Arms entwined, Monsieur and Miss,
Each returning kiss for kiss;
A celestial moment, sublime, rare,
Cupid, is this really love,
Unless accompanied by emotions true
Meeting approval with God above,
And double ideals pure as dew?
Define, Oh! Cupid, if thou can'st
The emotions held by mortal man.

That, Freshman, is treading on dangerous grounds. Not only is it an open road toward F in English, Math, etc., but also a great deal of embarrassment. For instance:

A Tragedy

As the Chink says, "Woe ish me,
Somefing bad dee commie to be";
I'll tell to you the tragedy
Ah! So Sad!
Like the slash of keenest knife,
The bitterest agonies of strife,
Came this tragedy into my life.
To drive me mad.

'Twas in the heart of winter-time,
Yet bathing in a summer clime,
I met her. So perfect, so sublime;
Like a Goddess.
Her eyes were pools of mystic dew,
Complexion and hair, a perfect hue,
French lips whispering 'J'aimé tu;
Passionate, yet modest.

A lovely thing, only 5 feet high,
I towering 6 and 1 into the sky,
But there were two things very night,
And that our hearts.
Ah! How that sad memory
Sears my soul with agony
And brings me very bitterly
To the tragic part.

One eving, moon sparkling above,
Taking my cue from two doves,
I stammeringly asked for her love and a kiss.
Ah! How those eyes looked at me,
Scarlet lips raised so tenderly,
Slowly I bowed; so gracefully
Yes, bowed, and missed!

And that, College Freshman, would be embarrassing. So our advice would be "correct your aim". Not in love-making, but your aim towards an A in your course.
When the lines in your History book become dim, and you confuse Queen Victoria with Queen of My Heart, just remember 'hat—

Love is like the honey-bee
Colored Oh! so gorgeously,
Fitting along so gracefully,
On fluttering wing;
Feeding upon nectar of the flower
From Cupid's own secret bow,
While the pollen layer tower
To hide the sting.

Love is like the gilded hornet,
Like the hands of gold upon it,
The flashing colors which adorn it,
Ah! A beautiful thing.
Yes, lovely as the bridal wreath,
Yet in its honey-coated sheath,
Cunningly concealed underneath,

WELCOME TO HOME EC ALUMNAE

At all times the Home Economics department is glad to welcome all former students. On returning you will find little change in the buildings and equipment but many new faces. In fact, Ethel, Bob and myself are the only ones now present who date further back than one year. Miss Cannon, who now has charge of the clothing, and Miss Swindler, who has foods, and the fifty-one Freshmen and thirty Sophomores who are enrolled in the department, will be happy to join with us in welcoming you.

No doubt you would like to have a hit of news from former faculty members: Miss Berry, now Mrs. Edward Gregory of Bedford, Virginia, is the mother of three boys. Most of you have heard of the sudden death of Miss Carl in December, 1934. At the time of her death she was Mrs. W. M. Elcheikamp. Miss Hunt, now Mrs. Colebank, is living at 1201 Laurel Avenue, Knoxville. Mrs. Shafer is also living in Knoxville. Mrs. Shankle is teaching Home Economics in the Oblion High School, while Miss Hearn, now Mrs. Gene Stanford, is living in Martin. She has one son, Michael Hearn, and a most attractive new home.

Among the former students in this department there are now nine who are Home Demonstration Agents, ten who are teaching Smith-Hughes Home Economics in high schools, one who is doing demonstration work for a commercial firm, one who is superintendent of nurses, one who is a dietitian, one doing administration work with the Resettlement Administration, one who is a kindergarten teacher, a few who are engaged in WPA work and numbers who are now doing commercial work of various types, an encouraging number who are now wives and homemakers, and many, many who are engaged in elementary teaching.

NETA MCFEE.

PROF. CRAVENS WELCOMES ALL AG. STUDENTS

The Department of Agriculture of the Junior College extends a cordial welcome to all its graduates to the annual Homecoming, to be held October 23. We hope to have a good showing of former Ag students at this time. Come around and visit the department while you are here. We will be glad to have you, and to have a chance to renew our acquaintance with you. No matter where you are now we are interested in you, and want to keep in contact. We will be looking for you next Friday.

C. C. CRAVENS.

Home Ec Club

The Home Ec Club met Wednesday afternoon, October 7, in the living room of the Home Economics building and the Pledge Service was held. Those assisting in the service were Louise McClain, Cora Helen Rice, Gwendolyn Whitford, and Anna Catherine Hansbrough. The president, Mary Walpole, presided and ushered the Freshmen into the dining room of the building, where they were officially taken into the club. President Walpole welcomed all the new members into our club and to the Freshmen, the Sophomores say: "We're glad to have you with us and hope you will enjoy the coming year."

SPORTS

The Vols are winning, and how! Having successfully laid Northwest Mississippi, Illinois, Arkansas State, and Austin Peay in the shade, they are on their fifth lap toward a completely successful season.

With the beginning of the season the Vols' chances looked good, disregarding the fact that her team is the lightest that has adorned the gridiron in several seasons. In every game, U. T. has been, or will be, outweighed from thirty to fifty-five pounds per man. Coach Humphreys says that is no obstacle, and is he right! Those Freshman backs make the opposing team look similar to Poel's Corner in Westminster Abby.

Captain Vaughn predicts that the Vols will be 100 per cent victorious, providing they can put the jinx on Delta State, and Coach Humphreys smiles knowingly to himself, as he drills his men on those passes that were so successful in taking Arkansas State. Coach also says that the speed and grit of his team will more than balance their lack of weight; therefore, we predict "a game" for Friday night.

Another reason why we predict a good game for Friday night is, if the Vols can beat the University of Chicago, they should be able to do the same for Delta State. Statistics show that U.T. Junior is better than the University of Chicago by 38 points. The University of Chicago was bested by Vanderbilt by 37-0, Southwestern bested Vanderbilt by 12-0, Southwestern bested Arkansas State 45-0, and we bested Arkansas State by 34-0.

The Physical Education classes are no longer classes, but an hour in which one can enjoy himself in good clean swimming. With the beginning of required attendance this sport has spread until it has become a campus-wide enjoyment. Although the season for swimming closes with the end of this quarter we hope that the pool will be open to those who wish to indulge in this sport.

The most crowded spot on the campus is the ping-pong table in front of the boys' dormitory. This sport has increased enormously within the past two weeks. Merrily the celluloid whizzes back and forth across the net, and sometimes at the most grotesque angles as the wind comes suddenly from starboard. It seems that the only thing lacking from this point is an adding machine, and a vacuum, not to place the table in, but Master Blackman.

The opening of the tennis courts at the boys' dormitory is providing the students with plenty of exercise between classes. Its only fault is the lack of attendance and racquets. Why not organize tennis contesting teams and hold weekly tournaments.

Cafe Offer Proves Value Of Volete Advertising

One hundred and eighty-five Junior College students responded to a Volete advertisement last week, thus proving the worth of advertising in Volete columns.

In the initial edition of The Volete the American Cafe advertised that the management would give a free serving of ice cream to all UTJC students who registered that week. The response was immediate and great. Aleck Hynds, manager-owner of the American, was highly pleased with the students' response. The American is equipped to give efficient service at all times.

OF RICH, RIPE-BODIED TOBACCO — "IT'S TOASTED"

Library Reviews
Films and Books

A new year of school and a new season of motion pictures! Books from the Library shelves are made to come alive on the screen for us, characters from history take on new meaning and their names are clothed in actual flesh and blood under the magic touch of the film producer.

Unusually rich of late has been the result of the close accord between the motion picture and literature. Some of the new pictures we may have already seen—"The Green Pastures," "The Last of the Mohicans," "Mary of Scotland," "The Road to Glory." But having seen them, we can live them over again in the pages of Library volumes.

Still to be seen, either in our local theater or elsewhere, are "Anthony Adverse," with Frederick March and Anita Louise; "Craig's Wife," with Rosalind Russell, John Boles and Billie Burke; "Dodsworth," with Walter Huston and Ruth Chatterton; and "The Good Earth," with Paul Muni and Luise Rainer.

The pen of Rudyard Kipling has inspired the production of "Captain Courageous," of "Kim," with Freddie Bartholomew, and of "Gunga Din." Of Mark Twain's breed are "The Adventures of Tom Sawyer" (for which it seems difficult to find a Huck Finn), and "The Prince and the Pauper"; and the children of Shakespeare will play their parts in "Romeo and Juliet," with Norma Shearer and Leslie Howard; in "As You Like It," with Elizabeth Bergner in the part of Rosalind; and in "Othello," the last now running with marked success on the New York stage. "A Midsummer Night's Dream" is to be more available than it was last year, and "Julius Caesar" is planned, with Ronald Colman in the name part. It is even being whispered that we may have "Hamlet" on the screen.

Historical biography has been the inspiration of two very fine presentations in "Joan of Arc," with Claudette Colbert, and "Marie Antoinette," with Norma Shearer and Charles Laughton.

With such a real feast spread before us, we shall want to miss none of it. The Junior College Library presents:

- "The Adventures of Tom Sawyer," by Mark Twain. (Sequel, "Huckleberry Finn.")
- "Anthony Adverse," by Hervey Allen.
- "As You Like It," by William Shakespeare.
- "Captain Courageous," by Rudyard Kipling.
- "Craig's Wife," a play, by George Kelly.
- "Dodsworth," by Sinclair Lewis.
- "The Good Earth," by Pearl Buck. (Sequels, "Sons" and "The House Divided.")
- "The Green Pastures," a play, by Mark Connelly.
- "Gunga Din," a poem, by Rudyard Kipling.
- "Joan of Arc," by Mark Twain.
- "Joan of Arc," by Hilaire Belloc.
- "Saint Joan," a play, by Bernard Shaw.
- "Julius Caesar," by William Shakespeare.
- "Kim," by Rudyard Kipling.
- "The Last of the Mohicans," by James Fenimore Cooper.
- "Marie Antoinette," by Stefan Zweig.
- "Mary, Queen of Scotland and the Isles," by Stefan Zweig.
- "A Midsummer Night's Dream," by William Shakespeare.
- "Othello," by William Shakespeare.
- "The Prince and the Pauper," by Mark Twain.
- "Paths of Glory," by Humpfrey Cobb (The Road to Glory.)
- "Romeo and Juliet," by William Shakespeare.

SOCIETY

October, the month for club activities and functions, is off for a good start with the All-Students Club, the Ag Club and the Home Ec Club leading the charge.

The All-Students Club entertained with a dance in the gymnasium. The music was furnished by such popular orchestras as Guy Lombardo, Ted Weems and Henry Busse. Mr. and Mrs. R. G. Turner, Miss Neta McFee, and Dr. Schmidt were chaperones. During intermission, the dancers were entertained by Mr. Kenneth Ross at the piano-accordion and the piano.

A large number of the student body attended the dance. Visitors were Miss Craddock Vaughn of Dresden, who is attending Lambuth College, and Misses Joy Parrish, Lucile Biggs, Ann Flitts, popular students of last year.

In keeping with the autumn spirit!

the Ag Club and the Home Ec Club collaborated for a weller roast Saturday night. The members of the two clubs were carried in two trucks to Mr. Gardner's farm, where roaring fires awaited them. An enjoyable time was spent preparing supper with everyone taking part. When everyone was amply full of wellers, marshmallows, apples, and buns, Mr. Woods started the group singing. Just as the fires began to burn low, we sang the Alma Mater and started for home.

Upon arrival in front of the Administration building everyone expressed their thanks to Mr. Alexander, president of the Ag Club, for an enjoyable outing.

Miss Craddock Vaughn of Lambuth College, was a visitor on the U. T. campus last Saturday morning. Glimped at the game Friday night, Ed and Lawrence Jones, Miss Llewelyn Wyatt of Yorkville, and Joe Tyson of Lexington, former U. T. students.

Official social activities of the Junior College are necessarily limited to Saturday night on account of Friday night football games.

The Freshman Home Ec girls heaved a great sigh of relief after the Hiwassee game. The reason—I imagine you know—the goating period was practically over. The poor girls though were literally scared to death over solemn whispers about a formal invitation for Wednesday afternoon. Came the time, the Freshmen, green and lowly, trooped up the hill with looks of great expectancy. The process wasn't at all trying. In fact, it was solemnly beautiful. It was worth all of that goating period just to become a member of the Home Economics Club.

Here and There WITH THE
CAMPUS SNOOPERS

Miss Moss, are you in the habit of keeping rendezvous behind the tent store on Saturday nights?

It seems that Dan Cupid, in keeping with the autumn weather, is rather nippy. Your snoopers have observed here and there these couples:

Anne Kathryn Hansbro and James Conlee.

Kathryn Kimberly and John M. Martin.

Evelyn Hamill and Charles Fisher. Madge Madden and Claude Thompson.

Edith Edwards and Ben Cunningham.

Jean Stubblefield and Ray Stover. Lucille Turner and Kenneth Ross.

We know of plenty others, but we are afraid we might step on somebody's toes.

So Virginia Weldon and Rosabell Stevenson, just a timely warning—be in the dorm the next time before the light flashes.

It seems that Ullins, Williams, Nelson and Robinson just can't GROW up. Some local boys have decided to add them in the process. For instance, how about Saturday night?

From all reports, Jeanette Wyatt had music at her house Sunday night. We wonder if it was an accordion?

The height of dumbness, Roy Cherry—you know Hag's brother—is unable to learn both the combination of his mail box and his telephone number at the same time.

After strolling over the campus for the past few weeks and observing size and people, we've come to the conclusion that the following would make ideal couples:

Miss Mary Meek and Mr. Farmer, sergeant-at-arms of the Freshman class.

Miss Sara Rose Sullivan and Mr. Burns—also sergeant-at-arms of the Freshman class.

Miss Edna Paulk and Mr. Andy Johnson.

Miss Jewel Wright and Mr. Elmer Browning.

Miss Cora Helen Rice and Mr. Dugan Page.

Miss Mary Walpole and Mr. Robert Moore.

Miss Sara Jane Proctor and Mr. Loyd Moody.

Miss Edith Barnes Parrish and Mr. Buddy Richmond.

The rest will appear in later issues. (Note: A hint to the wise is sufficient. We are watching you.)

Note to all girls passing Bachelor's Paradise: No fair peeping. The boys have not yet learned their shade combinations.

To those who escaped this time, don't be too confident, we'll be seeing you.

STRATTON'S DID YOU KNOW THAT—

According to dope, UTJC is 32 points better than University of Chicago. Here's how: Southwestern beat Arkansas State 45-0; we beat Arkansas State 34-0; Southwestern beat Vanderbilt 12-0; Vandy beat Chicago 37-0.

Rupert Bennett, Freshman from Henry County, had seen only two movies before entering UTJC last month.

Prof. DeMoss' class recently manured the College cows' horns.

It is rumored that the Greenfield ladies of the College, are especially lovely this year.

Henry "Hank" Rains, Freshman from Grand Junction, escaped a recent auto crash with slight injuries; the car being completely demolished and his companion killed.

"Si" Nunnally, newcomer to the campus wears size 12-E shoes.

Due to vacation, the College missed the knock-knock craze.

According to "Milk Fever" Glover, love statistician, fifteen couples were parading on flirtation circle, near the dining hall, Sunday night.

One fellow student tried working till 4 a.m. each morning and then attending classes, at least for a couple of weeks.

"Little" Steve Woods was recently seen riding an iron horse.

"Shorty" Burns is 6 feet, 4. Three cooperative dormitories furnish homes for 47 boys.

Several co-op boys do their own washing and ironing.

Hugh Paulk sold Bibles and books in Maryland this summer.

Mask and Wig Club

With a single exception, the temporary officers of the Mask and Wig Club were confirmed at the second meeting of the club recently. Miss Madge Madden was elected secretary in the place of Miss Boyd, who has left the club. Miss Oriole Wisner was elected an honorary member of the club. The new members of the club demonstrated their diversified talents by reciting, orating, or giving parts of plays in which they at one time or another had participated. Because the time was limited, this feature of the meeting was also carried over to the next meeting, which was held last Wednesday night, October 14, in the Administration building. At this time, the rest of the members had a chance to exhibit their respective abilities. Constructive criticism was offered by the various members and by the sponsor, Mr. H. H. Kroll, on each reading.

Plans are being made to hold the tryouts for the first play, which will be a one-act affair, at the next regular meeting.

The club is off to a fine start, with much fine talent showing up, and hopes to accomplish much this year.
